

Canvas

Canvas duck is a traditional heavy-duty cotton fabric that is woven in a plain weave (crisscross) pattern to form a checkerboard grid that gives it amazing strength and flexibility. It's widely used in nautical applications and in products ranging from sneakers to sandbags.

Camera bags constructed of cotton duck are soft, supple, and comfortable to carry, mold easily to accommodate a wide range of equipment sizes and shapes, will not scratch or damage delicate gear, are machine washable, water resistant, and renowned for being virtually indestructible. That's why the original Domke bag and many in the current line are still made of heavyweight canvas duck.

Ruggedwear®

RuggedWear® is a heavy-duty canvas duck fabric impregnated with environmentally friendly natural waxes and oils, a proprietary process that provides permanent resistance to inclement weather, but still allows the fabric to breathe. It also imparts a unique patina to the material similar to the fashionable "distressed" look in casual outerwear while enhancing its protective and long wearing properties.

Cordura® Nylon

Cordura is the brand name for a collection of tough, durable fabrics made using yarns or fibers sourced from Invista, the sole authorized copyright holder. Cordura® is widely used in military wear, high performance sports apparel, and premium luggage. Cordura fabrics are known for their ruggedness and resistance to abrasions, tears, and scuffs, and the Cordura Nylon used in Domke bags offers excellent protection, weather resistance, shape retention, and long-lasting dependability.

DOMKE®
GearProtex
Insert System

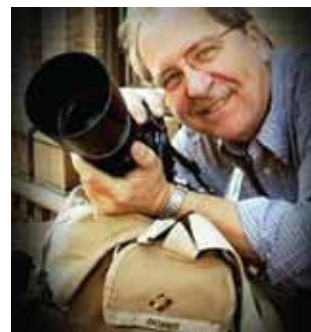

A revolutionary customizable insert system that protects and personalizes the partitioning of your valuable equipment using a unique system of bendable insert separators, self-adhering that mold to fill the interior space.

DOMKE®
PocketFlex
Pocket & Pouch System

An ingenious system of movable, configurable interior pockets and patches that supplement the fixed expandable outer pockets and adhere to any interior surface to provide increased capacity and personalized flexibility in the way you carry and use your equipment.

Domke became legendary among working pros as the first bags to go beyond carrying and protection to providing easy access, supreme flexibility and comfort, high quality and extreme durability that define our brand. I'm proud to say that the new line of Domke Next Generation bags takes this great tradition to an unprecedented new level with a host of innovative features based on the latest technology.
